Editorial Notes

- I. Tangut secular materials from Khara-khoto, kept at the St. Petersburg Branch of the Institute of Oriental Studies of Russian Academy of Sciences, are included in volume 7-11 of the Heishuicheng Manuscripts Collected in Russia.
- II. Materials included in the present volumes are arranged according to their contents in order of philological works, codes, documents, calendars, medicine and necromancy works, primers, category books, literary works, translations.
- III. Various manuscripts and different xylographs are all included and marked by Jiazhongben, Yizhongben and Bingzhongben respectively. One edition of the same xylographs is adapted as master copy according to the state of preservation, in which the fragmentary and blurred pages are substituted and supplemented by corresponding ones in other identical xylographs. If there are fragments of the same pages of the same edition, pages of other corresponding xylographs, besides master copy, will be enclosed herewith for reference.
- IV. Pages of the same edition are arranged according to the original order of the materials. Disarrangement brought about by material mounting are regulated directly. Different pages mismounted as one and the same page are restored by cutting and piecing together in accordance with specific conditions, those difficult to cut are preserved as the original, and no more captions are appended. Some original page numbers of fragments, with very few characters on them, to be difficult determined at the meantime, are arranged at the end of the volume or the book for check-up.
- V. There are captions under every plate according to the content in order of Russian number, material title, volume number or subtitle, sum total and ordinal number of the plate. Materials written at the reverse side of the sheet are marked by

- a V (verso) following the Russian number. If there are no Russian numbers for the material, other new numbers will be given according to the order of presentation and marked by an X, for example, X1, X2 and so on. If some materials have interrelative contents both at the obverse and the reverse side of the same sheet, for example, the text at the obverse and the commentaries or corrections at the reverse, the reverse side will be inserted into the text or attached to the end of the text in accordance with the facilities for reading and learning.
- VI. All the titles of materials included in the present book are determined. The basic principles of title determination are as the following: Titles preserved in the originals are translated from Tangut. If there are different titles at the beginning, end or in the middle of the edition, only one of them will be translated. Fragments without titles are determined by investigating the analogous materials preserved at present, those without references are reconstructed in accordance with their contents. The data for title determination and reconstruction are shown in the appendix attached to the 11th volume, the detailed description and illustration are also included there.
- VII. At the beginning of every volume, there are brief introductions and some coloured plates to the materials included there for reader's reference.
